

Instructor, Dr. Edward A. Schmalz

Dr. Edward A. Schmalz is a partner in Forensic Technology Group (FTG), is a certified computer examiner (CCE) and actively consults. Dr. Schmalz is a retired captain from a large county police department in northern New Jersey with over 29 years of investigative law enforcement experience and over 10 years experience with computers. He has had a diversified career with progressive management and computer experience (police academy lead instructor, Office of Emergency Management-OEM, detective, scuba, SWAT,) and in administration as Executive Officer and management roles, which was his position upon retirement.

Dr. Schmalz was the Director for the New Jersey State Police Graduate Studies Program, Seton Hall University, South Orange, NJ and continues to teach in the graduate program. Dr. Schmalz is a Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy graduate and served as President for the FBI National Academy Associates (FBINAA) New Jersey Chapter in 2000-2001. He serves as a consultant to business, government, non-profit and private sectors and is a corporate trainer for a pharmaceutical corporation since 2000. He continues to be a guest speaker at numerous professional and community events. He has received many recognition awards over his law enforcement and military career. He also served in the United States Army as a Sergeant with the 5th Special Forces Group Airborne.

Dr. Schmalz's education includes:

- Doctorate of Education, Administration and Supervision, Seton Hall University, 2000
- Master of Science, Criminal Justice Administration, Jersey City State College, 1992
- Bachelor of Science, Criminal Justice Administration, William Paterson College, 1980

Professional Affiliations:

- Member, Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy Associates (FBINAA)
- Member, International Society of Forensic Computer Examiners (ISFCE)