

Instructor, Wayne K. Jahn

Wayne K. Jahn is a senior partner in Forensic Technology Group (FTG), and he had initial computer forensic training in 1991 by the International Association of Computer Investigative Specialists (IACIS).and actively consults. Mr. Jahn is a retired lieutenant from Union City, N.J and a retired Deputy Chief as the head of the computer crime unit with the Hudson County Prosecutor's Office in New Jersey. He has had a diversified career with over 25 years of investigative law enforcement and detective and computer forensic experience. Mr. Jahn also has over twenty five years of progressive Management Information Systems experience in the creation of systems and analysis for law enforcement and governmental agencies and private corporations. He is an experienced manager with strengths in systems implementation for both large and small organizations encompassing local and wide area networks. Mr. Jahn works investigations involving all aspects of computer and computer crime and assists attorneys, private investigators and police departments dissect complex technical and financial information to solve crimes. When he moved to Florida in 1996, he started his own firm, Integrated Computer Solutions Consultants (ICSC) and Forensic Technology Group (FTG).

Mr. Jahn has developed, implemented and conducted formal training programs and presentations for all levels of management, organized and presented professional seminars and was a police academy instructor at the Bergen County Police Academy in New Jersey. Mr. Jahn has had exposure in broadcast, cited in print media and has authored articles relating to computer forensics. He has received many recognition awards over his law enforcement career for his heroic duties.

Mr. Jahn completed:

- Advanced Filepro Programming Course 1992 The Small Computer Company Hawthorne, New York
- Certification Course Seizure and Processing Computers in Criminal Investigations 1991 International Association of Computer Investigative Specialists Portland, Oregon
- Certification Zenix/Unix Administration Course 1990 Pratt University Basic Filepro Programming Course 1990 The Small Computer Company Hawthorne, New York
- Continuing Education Certification Courses Rutgers University - Princeton Division 1988 - 1989 Computer Software and Operating Systems

- Total Network Security Course Network Associates October 1999 Dallas, Texas
CyberCop System Engineer Certification October 1999

Professional Affiliations:

- Member of International Association of Computer Investigative Specialists (I.A.C.I.S)
- Member of Fraternal Order of Police
- Member of the Police Honor Legion
- Member of the American Legion
- Past Member of the NJ State Prosecutors Association Committee for Computerization